Esau M. 40. Ngoni. Tijianawo. Kachindamoto. Dedza.

Charge. Contravening section 208 Penal Code.

Assault on native woman Melaniya.

Plea. Guilty. 'I pushed her and she fell'

Supt. of Police, G.H.W. Kitson, for prosecution.

Melaniya. F. 28. Ngoni. Tijianawo. Kachindamoto. Dedza (W).

I am wife of the accd., who married me about ten years ago, and I have two children by him. Yesterday I accompanied accd. to a beer-drink, and I came back just leaving him there. Accd. came back before sunset, and on arrival started to eat nuts. I asked him not to finish them all, and he then took a stick and hit me with it three times on the head. Accd. often ill-treats me. On this occasion he had been drinking beer, but he was not drunk. Accd. had accused me of committing adultery, though that charge is untrue.

Accd. elects to make a statement and states (c).

I did not accuse my wife of adultery: she told me that she had done so with my brother-in-law. I did eat the nuts and she started abusing and swearing at me. I told her to stop, and I pushed her away. She came near again, trying to bite my chest. I pushed her, and she fell.

Finding. Guilty.

Sentence. Fined five shillings (5/-), or in default six weeks' I.H.L.

always used to pay us. Capt Brown provided the money. Gotham engaged us. Leston & I left at the same time. There was no work which was why we left.
